

MAJOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION ON FOURTH OF JULY

City's Chief Executive Asks All to Decorate and to Observe Nation's Birthday Honoring Maysville and Mason County Soldiers.

Hon. Thomas M. Russell, Mayor of the city, today issued the following proclamation calling on all citizens to celebrate the Fourth of July:

To the People of the City of Maysville:

On next Friday, July 4th, America will celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress as has been done as each recurrence of the anniversary for the past 143 years, with added significance, with heart-felt gratitude and with profound appreciation of the glory that has come to our arms. The people will meet to thank those who have contributed to our success and to rejoice together over the victories won.

In this city arrangements are being made to commemorate in a fitting manner the valor and patriotism of the citizens of our city and county. This celebration will be in many forms suitable to all. As the Mayor of our city, I hereby request that all residences and business houses be suitably decorated for the occasion and that the people not aside as much of that day as consistent that we may all unite in the glorification of the peace that has come.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the city of Maysville this 30th day of June, 1919.

THOMAS M. RUSSELL, Mayor.
Attest: R. B. ADAIR, City Clerk.

DAM HOLDS MEN WHILE RIVER COVERS WORKS

Although because of the high water the workmen at Dam 33 are unable to work, the contractors are holding the men and paying them just as if they were working regularly. The river is now falling and it is thought that it will be only a few days before work can be resumed.

The body of Mrs. J. T. Winder, who died at home near Rectorville Saturday night, was taken to Brandenburg, Ky., her former home, over the L & N, this morning and burial will be made there Tuesday.

Mr. A. F. Welch, of Connersville, Ind., spent Monday here.

CLERK'S UNION TO BE COMPLETED WEDNESDAY

Salesmen in Maysville Stores Will Organize Local Union on Next Wednesday—Majority of Stores to Be Represented.

Those who are at the head of a movement to organize a Clerks' Union in Maysville met on Sunday afternoon and discussed the matter thoroughly as to the advantages an organized labor union would be to the salesmen in the Maysville retail and wholesale stores. All who were in attendance were very enthusiastic about the organization and more than enough signatures were procured to petition for the granting of a local charter.

Because of the inability of some of the leaders in the movement to be in attendance at the Sunday meeting, any definite action was postponed until next Wednesday evening when another meeting will be held and at this meeting they propose to have matters in such a shape that the organization can be completed and the petition to the Intermediate Union can be forwarded.

Just as soon as the charter is procured the charter members will endeavor to have all of the salesmen in the city join the union. It is understood that the salary proposition will have little effect upon the merchants of Maysville and the majority of the local merchants are now paying as much or more than the union wage scale but there are other features to the union which the promoters are anxious to obtain for the Maysville salesmen.

RECORD-BREAKING ARE PLANS MADE FOR FOURTH OF JULY

Music for Dance Procured and All Plans Are Going Forward—Everybody Is Coming.

July Fourth, 1919, will certainly be the biggest holiday Maysville had ever seen in recent years. The members of all the various committees planning for the big celebration are taking much time from their daily work in order to have all details worked out carefully for the big day. Nothing is being left undone and the good people have been so liberal in their contributions that no expense will be spared to have a rent bone coming for the returned and returning soldiers and sailors.

Plans for the big parade are going forward rapidly. It is certain that it will be one of the largest and most beautiful parades seen in Maysville. Because of the four prizes that are being offered it is thought that there will be many contestants with their machines and floats. The parade will be led by the Maysville Boys' Band in a large machine and others will be given position as they apply. Mr. Chris Brown, who has this matter in hand, is issuing numbers as those who signify their willingness to take part apply to him. Position in the parade will be determined by those numbers and that everything may be fair he is giving the numbers in the order that applications are made to him.

The fireworks have already been arranged for and will be fired between nine and ten o'clock in the evening. There may be some daylight fireworks decided upon later but the big fire works show will be at night.

Arrangements have just been completed with the Pork Chops Jazz orchestra, of Cincinnati, to make music for the colored folks dance which will be held in the Liberty Tobacco Warehouse. The Boys' Band will also give concerts at the colored people's celebration.

An orchestra of Maysville people will furnish music for the white dance in the Beechwood Casino.

Arrangements have been made to have a checking booth on the grounds where folks may check their basket dinners without charge upon their arrival in the park and where the diners will be cared for until the owners desire to eat.

John Ettel will have charge of the entire grounds and will be general superintendent of the whole show. This means that everything will move off smoothly.

One thing that the committees want to keep always impressed upon the good people of Maysville is that they want Maysville decorated as never before to welcome the soldier boys. Every house in Maysville should have one or more flags displayed and those who can should decorate otherwise.

Mr. Samuel H. Hall's auto will be trimmed in the Bullock Garage window Wednesday evening and it will be on display there Thursday so that those who desire may get pointers on decoration.

Of Trouble.

Sherman Miller, well known resident of the county, filed suit through Attorney Allan D. Cole, in the Mason Circuit Court this afternoon in which he asks to be divorced from the bonds of matrimony with his wife, Laura Miller.

He sets out in the petition that they were married in this state in 1913 and have since that time resided continuously in Mason county.

For a cause of divorce he says that the defendant, his wife, has been guilty of such lewd and lascivious behavior as to prove her to be unchaste and that on or about the 9th of January, 1919, she ran away with a married man to the state of Ohio. He gives the name of the married man as Aaron Gilbert and states that they have lived together and that the wife refuses to return to her home in this country.

He prays for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony and for all proper relief.

Such reports as have been obtained from Florence over greatly interrupted communications are to the effect that from 1700 to 1800 are dead and that the picturesque and ancient quarters of the city have been reduced to ruins.

Assistance is being taken to the stricken communities by trains from Perugia.

Many ancient churches are said to have been ruined in the quake and the exact number of the dead cannot be known for some time, however it is known to have been the most terrible disaster since the year 1895.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

GO ON TO COLLEGE

Now that school days are ended until September and the excitement of graduation is wearing off, the members of this year's graduating class are looking ahead to some form of activity after the vacation period.

The graduates are to be congratulated for having won their diplomas, for a vast majority of the boys and girls of the country, statistics reveal, not only do not finish high school courses, but never even begin them. They should not stop here, however. To be sure, in some instances, it will seem impossible to go on with a collegiate or some other form of special education, but where there is the will, ordinarily a way can be found. Many a youth with less promising prospects than any boy or girl receiving a diploma this year in Marysville has overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles and forged ahead to college diploma.

A college education is invaluable. Oh yes, we know that there are instances in which a youth has been turned loose on the world after a complete college course, worse than worthless. But that was the fault of the individual, not of the college. The good is there to be obtained by him or her who will sincerely make the effort.

In this modern day no young man or woman who possibly can contrive to obtain a college education should be content without it. It is hoped that each of these high school graduates will resolve to go to college whatever the cost or the sacrifice may be.

HOUSING CONDITIONS AT WASHINGTON IMPROVE

Official Displays from Several Departments Much Complaint Is Now Being Relieved.

Washington, June 20.—The congestion in Washington, D. C., which resulted from the influx of war workers, has now been considerably relieved, according to a statement of the United States Civil Service Commission. Fully 20,000 persons have left Washington since the signing of the armistice, and a gradual further reduction will cause living conditions in the Capitol City to continue to improve.

The Commission states that it is informed by the Washington office of the Home Registration Service of the Department of Labor that it is in a position to provide rooming and boarding accommodations for all who apply for them.

The Homes Registration Service constantly maintains a list of available rooms in private houses. Where two persons share a room, the room with board, that is, the two principal meals of the day, may be had for $40 or $45 a month for each person.

In addition, the Government conducts attractive residence halls in which about 2,000 women are accommodated. A separate room with board in the Government residence halls costs $45 a month. Every comfort and convenience is provided.

Notwithstanding reductions in some branches of the service, the force in Washington is so large that hundreds of vacancies in permanent positions are constantly occurring. Stenographers, typists, and bookkeepers especially are in demand. Full information and application blanks may be obtained.

OTHER KICKLESS SALOONS ARE PROMISED

It is learned that there are to be several more kickless saloons in Marysville after the first of July where near beer will be served from the wood and over the bar just like it was the real stuff. The fact that all booze goes out Monday seems to argue that these places will enjoy a big patronage.

TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony of Maryville People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Maryville people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony such as the sufferer from kidneyills is looking for.

Henry S. Gallenstein, blacksmith, 124 W. Third St., Maryville, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had pains through my back. Doan's Kidney Pill put an entire stop to the pains and my kidneys became well." (Statement given January 9, 1912.)

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Over four years later, or on November 14, 1916, Mr. Gallenstein said: "I haven't had any need of a kidney medicine since I last recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. The benefit they gave me has been permanent."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy — get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mr. Gallenstein had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Stories The Dewdrops Told

IX. THE FAIRY WITH THE GREEN PURSE.

"How sweet the garden smells this morning," said Dolly to herself. She came down off the porch steps and looked around at the paths between the vegetables. The paths between the vegetables. The rain last night had made them all look bright and happy. When Dolly heard the drip, drip, patter, in the night she had been afraid she could not have any story in the morning. Now the sun was shining and all the plants were fresh after their bath.

Dolly wondered what story she should hear today. She looked all around but there were no fairies to be seen. The dew drops were thick on the leaves, so she walked along the path watching everywhere for someone to ask about the fairies. All at once she saw something in the air in front of her. At first she thought it was a fly, but it was white—or almost white—and she had never seen a white fly. It lighted on a leaf near her. When she saw its tiny watering pot she knew it was a Dewdrop Fairy and she clasped her hands.

"I'm so glad to see you, pretty Dewdrop Fairy," she said. "I have never seen anybody as pretty as you in all my life."

The Fairy was pretty. There could be no doubt about that. She was slender. Her face was as sweet as an angel's. She wore the dearest dress of white with just the least hint of pale purple in it. It floated around her like a veil. She had wings, too. Except the first Fairy Dolly had seen none of them had wings. You could almost see through them. She seemed to float on the leaf instead of standing on it. When Dolly stooped down to see better, she smelled a sweet, faint odor. It was something like what she smelled when Grammy shook out the lace shawl she wore on summer evenings.

"Oh, how sweet you are, pretty Fairy," said Dolly. "Please tell me your name."

"I am the Fairy of the Peavine," said he pretty little Fairy. "I am so glad you like me. Will you look into my 'pop'?"

"Oh, yes," said Dolly, who wanted nothing better.

The Fairy poured her dewdrop out of the little watering pot and Dolly stooped over to look at it. (She had never knelt down on the ground since the day she had been the "slowly worm" and spoiled her skirts with grass-mould.)

In the dewdrop she saw a long row of plants. They clung to dead bushes that had been put in the ground for them. They were covered with purple white blooms that looked as if they had little ruffles on them. Bees were flying around them. As she watched, the bloom dried up and fell off. In the place of them were tiny green things like the smallest pocket-hoops in the world. These grew bigger and bigger until they were longer than Dolly's longest finger.

"Oh, how fast they grow!" cried Dolly.

"They don't really grow as fast as that," said the Fairy. "But when you look into the magic dewdrop you see magic things happen. It would take weeks for all that to happen, really. Now look again."

Dolly put her eye down to the dewdrop again, and there the vines were covered with long, green hags.

"What funny little hags," said Dolly. "They are all hulgy—they look like my stockings on Christmas morning."

"Their right name is 'pods,'" said the Fairy.

"Oh my!" cried Dolly who was looking into the magic dewdrop with all her eyes; "There comes Aunt Mandy. And she has a basket. She is pulling off the bags—I mean the pods—and putting them in her basket. Now she is sitting on the porch and pinching them with her thumb and they fall open. Why those are peas coming out! Is that the way they grow?"

"Yes!" said the Fairy. "That's the way they grow after we come up from the ground. People must be careful to plant us not too near together, and we must always be about as far in the ground as the length of a man's finger. We must have nice brush or wire to grow on so we can get our blossoms up into the sunshine. And I wish you would tell whoever takes care of this garden to watch our leaves very carefully. There is a kind of little green creature that sucks our life all out

Kentucky, and they might do that much for the state, any way. And I'll tell you right now, old timer, if they are going to learn the game they had better be hopping to it or these guys from the outside who know a good thing when they see it will have everything tied up so tight that when you want a ton of coal you'll have to write to a fellow in New York, who will send the letter to a chap in Pittsburgh, who'll refer the communication to the office in Charleston, and by the time it gets over in Kentucky everything will be frozen up tighter than Billy-De-Damn and there won't be any railroad cars to put it in.

"It does heat hell," he continued plaintively, "how a chap that has money and must have sense or he wouldn't have money; that ain't sayin'—he inserted hastily, "that you and me are necessarily crazy—want to invest his money he'll go chasing off to Texas or Oklahoma and back some wild-eater that's so locoed that a respectable eat won't stay in the same neighborhood with him, when these mountains will give him the fairest run for his money of any place in America."

"And he," added aggressively, "he dared if I ain't for them. But what I want to know is what has because of the Kentuckians."

"Maybe there ain't any such thing any more," I suggested, and just then a tall thin man of uncertain age drove right around the turn in the road.

A long, single-barrel shotgun was on his shoulder and a good-sized ground hog dangled from his left hand while a couple of weary dogs trailed close behind him.

"Good-morning strangers," he spoke as he passed along.

"Good morning," returned the engineer; "excuse me, but will you tell me what part of the West you are from?"

"West?" puzzled the stranger, "why I was born a mile east o' here on Peach Orchard Creek, lived there all my life. Thought I'd go out to this morning and ketch a ground hog for supper. Best eatin' in the world. Goin' to be a hot day, guess I'll be shovin' Come go down the creek with me and stay a week," he urged with hospitality.

"Nope," replied the engineer, "can't go. So long." And then as he gazed at the figure going down the road, he said sadly:

"Kentuckian, bound dog, ground hog; well I'll bet a dollar that fellow's a D—Democrat, too, for next to Abraham Lincoln, the engineer believes John Langley to be the greatest American that ever lived."

"What the devil are you laughing at?" he asked. "Let's get out of here."

And we hit the road.

"Y" WORKERS NOW IN ITALY HAVE BIG JOB

Work Done By Y. M. C. A. Workers Remaining in Italy Is Quite Praiseworthy.

Bologna, Italy—An idea of what is being done by the few remaining secularies of the "Imka" of Y. M. C. A. with the Italian Army, can be had from the following figures, which cover the period of April 12 to May 10, 1919. Less than one-third of the original 300 secretaries with the Italian troops now remain in Italy, making the achievement the more praiseworthy.

During this period the entertainment department "put over" 692 high-class shows before an aggregate attendance of 442,400 soldiers. The cinema department showed 2,007 feature photoplays in four weeks to 1,06,200 enthusiastic men. The "Casa del Soldato", operated under the Red Triangle, have served more than 2,270,000 Italians who took advantage of the reading, writing and recreational facilities. The physical department has worked with 216,400 troops, teaching them American sports, games and mass athletics.

Many letters of appreciation have reached the Y. M. C. A. headquarters here, both from the Army and Civil government. Regardless of the strained relations between Italy and the Americans, the Red Triangle work is increasing in popularity with the Italian.

AMERICANISM VS. BOLSHEVISM IS PASTOR'S SUBJECT

Dr. John Harbour Preaches Sermon on the Close of the World War and the Approach of Independence Day.

Dr. Barbour preached to a large audience yesterday a sermon appropriate to the end of the World War and the approach of Independence Day.

He said: "The war in bringing about vast changes has opened new and difficult problems. Who could have foreseen eight years ago that we would so soon be facing questions involving the very constitution of society in Europe and in America, that getting rid of the Autocracy of Czars and Emperors we should be confronted with the worse autocracy of the Bolsheviks?"

Destructive and reactionary forces are actually at work in America striving to turn our representative Republic into a socialist autocracy.

It is asserted by them that the disparity and the injustices between classes has become so marked that the present system must give way to an organization of the people, and that a part of the people, the workers who, it is claimed, have gathered the property on which our social structure rests. The conduct of our daily lives, what we eat and drink, our incomes, all our affairs are to be under the control of collectivism.

It is the question whether one shall abandon the principles and traditions which have made America so great and so free and substitute therefor a state built upon the absolute power of the new socialistic council.

The corner stone of our system is the civil liberty and equality of the individual. Our government is not a government of absolute power before whom the individual must bow. Ours is one of clearly defined powers under a constitution limiting to the government of state or nation what is delegated by the citizens. We are a free people. We do not derive our powers from government. We make the government and invest it with power as we wish.

This protected liberty of the individual is what has drawn the oppressed and the enterprising from every land, and this is it which has given America such unexampled prosperity. Perfect equality and perfect justice has not yet been attained but it far surpasses the liberty and privileges of other lands.

The fundamental contention of the Bolsheviks is the idea derived from Marx that there is an inexorable struggle of classes in present day society.

In answer, we say there is no permanent inequality or fixity of classes in this country. Men and women by the thousands rise out of their classes every year and become heads of the business they learned as mechanics. Section hands becoming Presidents of Railroads and farmers' boys going to the head of every calling. In fact the upper departments of American life are beckoning constantly to those beneath them to come up and share in social and business privileges just as fast as they are able to do so. There is a premium put on aspiring talent and energy to rise to the great opportunities.

A General Chairman it is my sincere that every member shall be present at his or her respective committees tonight. Colonel James Griffey as chairman of the Old Soldiers wishes to get in touch with all Old Soldiers.

Tomorrow, Tuesday night, July 1st, every member of every committee is urgently requested to come to the home of Mrs. Florence Jackson, 318 East Fourth street, for final instructions and announcements.

TONIGHT Anna Nelson in THE WAY OF THE STRONG

sympathies of what Germany would try to do, although the plans were open and published to the world.

It needs only that Americanism with its great free and fair principles should be compared with this monstrous system of tyranny and crime. It is asserted that the rich are getting steadily richer and fewer and the poor steadily poorer and more numerous among us.

Now just recall that twenty million of persons have subscribed to our Liberty Loan and this did not represent all who could have done so.

There are 18,000,000 dwellings occupied by some 21,000,000 families. Fully six million of our families own homes, three million of them with a mortgage which will generally be lifted. Twelve million of our people have stock in banks of various kinds. Public school and libraries and parks are provided for all. Labor has liberty to organize and contract and there is even a partiality shown them by public opinion, manifest in legislatures and the courts. There are dangers from great corporations, but these corporations are arrangements for the employment of small capital combined for great enterprises. They are creatures of the law, and subject to the courts at every point.

There is a steady growth in the sentiment for social reform in our country, for regulations conserving the public health and providing better housing for all, better water, better food and protecting against illness and unemployment and indigent old age. All this grows out of the American principle that the individual does not exist for himself alone, but that he has responsibilities and rights also.

This is Christian American social reform. The socialist however demands a political social revolution, and strange to say they have had just such a revolution in one of the greatest nations in the world with its 170,000,000 people. There are signs however already of its breaking down by its own weight. It is only by a gigantic bluff that they are able to hold on at all.

They are operating today under a constitution, and a constitution that neither Marxism nor Communism The class struggle has practically gone. Lenin entered on power announcing the government of the Proletariat. Two years have passed. With power responsibility has come. The industries must be run, cities must be fed. A great nation must be economically organized. Lenin found out Proletarianism could not do this. The masses could not administer the government. They could not run the factories. These are still in large part privately owned. They have to call in the Bourgeoisie and the capitalists to manage the industries.

The intellectuals too are no longer murdered. They were always needed. Lenin is an intellectual. Trotsky a journalist Tchelcherin a noble.

They were to have no parliament, but they have in fact a parliament, a delegated body geographically chosen. There is centralization of power and the real rulers are the peasants who have become land owners. The mines and factories are either privately owned or owned by the state. The workers are still being exploited. Militarism rules the nation through an usurping caste.

Lenin having to face international relations now offers to pay the national debt, and remunerate alien land owners.

Capitalism is in the saddle and the proletariat are putting on the yoke again.

Lenin and his crowd have learned that in this world there is no class struggle. They have learned that industry is a practical not an idealistic problem that society is made up of groups of workers each of them needing the other. We should really be thankful that this monstrous experiment has been made.

Government is not a creation, but is brought about by the evolution of all classes of the nation according to their character.

Our great America stands over against all this as the development of freedom under our Christian institutions.

Americanism stands for freedom of the individual.

Bolshevism for the slavery of the masses. Americanism puts a premium on education and refinement.

Bolshevism reduces all to a common level of mediocrity and ignorance.

Americanism stands for the emancipation of women and for a pure home.

Bolshevism by enslaving and degrading woman, destroys the home, are neat of patriotism.

Americanism gives every man a chance. Bolsheviks make him a cog in a machine.

Americanism stands for brotherhood. Bolsheviks for hate.

Americanism in developing private capital develops thrift and self-control and all the virtues of civilization.

It stands for religion and the school and the home, for a pure patriotism and for a great national life.

It is evident then that in the development of a pure Christianity here we are laboring for liberty and the happiness of the individual and for the grandeur of the nation.

Considering that it is now mid-summer with vacation time in full swing the attendance at our Sunday schools is excellent. A few show a slump the wrong way. But on the whole the work is encouraging. It is especially gratifying to the Attendance Secretary the way the Christian churches throughout the county are reporting their attendance. These schools all seem much alive. It would be just as easy for the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and other schools to report.

Let's hear from you next Sunday.

tending elsewhere to come and see what is going on at this school, believing that come once they will continue, but they invite inspection of the work being done by any who are interested in up-to-date Sunday School methods.

The Sunday School of the Third Street M. E. Church will picnic Wednesday afternoon and evening at Beautiful Beechwood Park. The school plans to go to the park at 3 o'clock. All are invited to bring full lunch baskets which will be attended to about 6:30 p. m. till 8:30 p. m. which will give those who have to work a chance to get home, dressed up, and to the picnic in time to enjoy lunch with the picnickers. Games of all sorts will be indulged in. The climax will come with a marshmallow roast and story-telling contest (none but ghost stories allowed) as soon as it gets dark. A committee composed of Mrs. Flat, Mrs. Peters and Misses Blanche Anderson and Frances Huff will have charge of the games for the little folks. So parents should not fear to send or bring their little ones. Rev. Peters' class of young men will have charge of the marshmallow roast followed by Miss Helen Nauman, Messrs. John Brodt and Sam Carpenter will have charge of the games of horseshoes that are to be pulled off. There will be a good fire for everybody so don't fail to come.
